TELSTAR IS 12-0 VICTOR OVER MESSALONSKEE IN GRID OPENER

Halfback Wayne Cummings and fullback Al York each tallied once to provide Telstar with a 12-0 victory over a veteran Messalonskee team on Saturday afternoon on the loser's field. Telstar found it unnecessary to go to the airways while producing scores in the first and second periods, but failed to convert their extra points each time. On three other occasions the Messalonskee Eagles found the Rebels knocking at their door, when Telstar must have caused turnovers.

Peter Blake, Al York, and Wayne Cummings were relentless in attacking the Messalonskee defense. The offensive line led by Rex Cummings, Tim Rosenberg and Randy Olson, executed blocking assignments with precision.

A major factor in shutting out Messalonskee was the defensive team led by Donny (Lucky) Luxton, Tim Rosenberg, Dana Melville, Ron Deegan and Dana Morgan, who dumped Messalonskee backs on numerous occasions.

Freshman Paul Farrar starting his first game as a defensive safety picked off a first period Eagle pass and ran it back for 20 yards.

Good two way performances for the winners were turned in by Frank Howard and Chris Gill.

Telstar (12) — L: Melville; R: Luxton; lg. Gill; c. Howard; rg. Olson; rt. Rosenberg; re. R. Cummings; qb. Deegan; lbh. W. Cummings; rhb. Blake; fb. York.

Although the Adult Education Program was omitted from the 1971-72 school budget in S. A. D. 44, there is going to be an attempt to offer, on a self supporting basis, an opportunity for those residents of the district who need courses to complete their requirements for a high school diploma.

In addition, should enough interest be generated, there will be courses made available for those individuals who are interested in home wiring, repairs, etc.

It is requested that any adults who have earned credits toward a diploma and would like to complete their high school education or would like improvement courses, contact the Adult Education Director, Dick Prescott, at Telstar Regional High School, telephone 824-2027.

Many students are leaving this week end for the University of Maine Orono.

Comments from the Office of the Town Manager

An application has been filed with the Maine Municipal Association for the town to participate in the Emergency Unemployment Program sponsored by the federal government.

Because the office of MSAD 44 is located in Bethel, they had to apply through the municipality.

The program provides for 90% of the salaries of people hired to supplement the present public work forces. The remaining 10% is the responsibility of the hiring agent. This 10% need not be in cash as administrative and training cost, also use of equipment is considered a part of the program.

A list of job priorities, made up of positions from both the town and school, was filed with the application.

Personnel hired must be referred through the Employment Security Commission. They must be classified as either unemployed or underemployed.

Please do not contact this office for possible positions as we are not ready to accept applications.

ELEMENTARY BAND PROGRAM STARTS NEXT WEEK

DISTRICT 44 SCHOOLS

MSAD 44's outstanding elementary school band program will get underway during the coming week, with experienced students returning, and prospective students having the chance to enroll.

Pupils who are in grades 5 and 6 are eligible to take part in this program. During the year, they receive weekly instrumental instruction and there are usually several occasions in which the band performs for audiences. To give boys and girls some preliminary information to take home regarding band participation, Mrs. Edith Eyppe, district music supervisor and band director, is visiting these classes this week in Woodstock and Bethel, and Monday at Andover.

Parents who are interested in the band activity will have an opportunity to attend a demonstration and an informational meeting with Mrs. Eyppe and Carroll Poulin, Auburn music store operator, Friday, Sept. 24, at the following times and locations: Woodstock School, Bryant Pond, 8:30 a. m.; Crescent Park School, Bethel, 10 a. m.; Andover Elementary School, 11:15 a. m.

Through the cooperation of the Auburn firm, students may rent equipment for an ample time to discover whether or not they have sufficient talent and interest to play an instrument. An explanation continued on Page Four

MORE PLANS FOR BETHEL'S HOME - COMING OCTOBER 2

Co-Chairman Elizabeth Carter and Edward Quinn of the Bethel Historical Society Home-Coming Committee, report that Mrs. Sue Farrar and her sister, Mrs. Emily Saunders, are planning the entertainment for Saturday evening, Oct. 2.

This program will follow the dinner which will be held at the West Parish Congregational Church, 6:30 to 8:30, Oct. 2, and Mrs. Nellie Frankevicz, chairman, and her assistants will be serving a turkey dinner, with all the "fixings". The dinner will be limited to 100, and tickets may be purchased in advance (or at the door, if not all sold) by both local residents and those returning from away.

Posters prepared by local students, will be distributed in the area within a week—look for these to learn some of Bethel's significant history.

Those purchasing tickets on the picture painted and donated by Faye Taylor that it is to be awarded, may view it at Clukey's Pharmacy.

Commemorative items which will be sold by the Historical Society, will be tiles depicting the double covered bridge which crossed the Androscoggin to Mayville—that are found to be popular with "covered bridge buffs", and also special buttons, sure to become collectors' items.

The chairman will be happy to receive offers of help from people to assist at the various exhibits and Parade Chairman Frank Hollis, who has been meeting with his assistants, "Mike" Brown, and Dick Fraser, would appreciate hearing from those who enter floats. Let us make this 175th Anniversary Parade the biggest Bethel has ever seen!

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Colista Merson, Corres. — Again recently there came a time when the heat descended like a hood that sealed our valley. The sun poured its rays down unrelentingly and by noon the stifled air and the sunshine seemed to hold everything in a firm grip. If you walked, it was as if you were enclosed in a sheet of invisible fire.

That night a friend and I took the boat out for an evening on the pond. We also took our fish poles, a light, and our jackets.

The blue waters were now dark and the cicada stirred. "Happy evening."

Shadows pushed down the slopes for dark falls quickly now.

We were up pond and anchored and tried our luck at fishing. There was a quiet so deep; not even the rustle of leaves or the stir of the pond's surface for some time. This calm was so great that all motion had gone out of the universe. We sat, visited, fished, and waited for something to happen.

There was a dull glow behind the trees to the east; the moon was rising. At first Noyes Mountain, and the tall trees acted as umbrellas tops by shutting out its face. The moon is a little "creature" anyway. First it comes as a crescent, leering with a face of mockery, flashes into a half ball, then becomes full and content.

It was nearly full tonight when it did rise above the mountain. After that it becomes restless, wanes and leaves the world again to the stars. Tonight there were but a few bits, beyond the mysterious and misty canopy I knew they were waiting faithfully.

The air was cooling and grew damp.

Occasionally we heard the splash of water. Among the marsh hummocks beyond us the ducks were enjoying the evening too.

As the moon climbed, throwing the backdrop of the trees into silhouette we heard the rustling and crackling of noises; thrilling text.

many that many things are nocturnal. Along the shoreline where the woods grew dark these night things were taking note of our presence. We who were born near the woods are used to the feeling of something present and know it is not unfriendly. Just about. But those who are not become frightened at the rustling in the leaves and feel true panic.

Lights twinkled in distant cottages as we took our way down pond rippling the surface of the water. Then it flattened out again to assume its mirror calm of the evening.

As we flashed our light, the reeds and lily pads were bejeweled with tiny drops, crystal beads, that had settled for the night.

We listened "Nymph". Night walked on; the cool darkness was relieved only by a distant and gentle moonlight while all around us the dark trees remained intensely still.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL MUSIC

of the rental plan will be given at the Sept. 24 meetings.

In discussing the important step of joining the band, Mrs. Epper has stressed the serious need to select an instrument carefully and with consideration of the motivating benefits of an instrument in good working order; one which will give satisfaction to the student as he goes on in school; and one which is suited to his physical capacity.
If there are parents who are interested in the band program, but unable to attend the demonstration with Mr. Poulin, she is urging them to contact her before selecting an instrument.

This local band program for elementary students has been conducted for many years, with a number of its alumnae continuing their musical activity through high school and into college. At present there are several young people from this area engaged in professional music study. The number is regarded as comparatively high by Dr. Virgilio Mori, state music education consultant.

Mrs. Epper who has been in her present position since formation of the school district in 1965, was previously employed by some of the member towns in this work since 1958. The band was already well established prior to her tenure and has continued to grow. Among professional experiences, four years as orchestral instructor and director at the Junior High school level in Fort Worth, Texas, are especially related to her work here. She is a graduate of Texas Christian University with a major in music, and special preparation as a pianist.
Her post graduate credits have been earned at North Texas State Teachers College and at Teachers College of Columbia University, as well as at the University of Maine.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR
Editor, Sir:

"Our Lady of the Snows" Here definitely is evidence of aesthetic discipline at its best!

The church of Our Lady of the Snows is a fine example of harmony of conception with the execution of the ideal. One simply sees the snows clearing, rushing off!

Its originality attracted me and,
as it was an early rainy Sunday morning, I expected the inside of an empty church to be rather forbidding. But to my surprise it presented a warm, pleasant atmosphere, giving one a feeling of being sheltered and welcomed!

The architects obviously have an overriding feeling for design, proportion, sense of color and above all of functionality. One expected to see much space wasted behind those low lips of the roof. But no, every inch is utilized; objects like machinery are often being given a whole high cube of space—a no purpose.
Here everything fits into its rightful place as it were.

Surprising however is the design of the out-of-doors. It is bleak and depressing. Far from providing a foil for the architecture, it reduces it to mediocrity. It destroys the environment, adding pollution to it!

There is an environmentalist in Bethel, trained at the highest levels, who would be willing to offer advice to the architects—free of charge if need be—how not only to beautify the area instead of destroying it, but also how to enhance the charm of the architecture!

There would appear to be no reason why the community should not avail itself of the opportunity—at least of listening. It is by listening to both sides of an argument that we learn something.

Sincerely,
Norelaine Y. Noyl
